What is different about these dentures?

Good dentures can change everything. Your confidence, your outlook and your enjoyment of life.

Our treatment gives you back the pleasure of your favourite foods, social confidence and creates a fantastic smile.

Denture treatment today is not about false looking, uncomfortable and loose teeth. At Hopkinson Dental we give you the very latest in denture technology from Japan with our unique "Suction Dentures" to deliver unique and bespoke teeth exactly as you want them.

We are uniquely skilled

Being under the care of a registered Clinical Dental Technician means that you are having treatment from someone who knows dentures inside out.

Chris Egan

Clinical Dental Technician. GDC Number: 119949

Chris obtained his Diploma in Dental Technology at Leeds in 1984 whilst working for one of the country's largest dental laboratories. After many years working as a dental technician and earning the esteem of his dental colleagues he completed the Diploma in Clinical Dental Technology at the Royal College of Surgeons in London. Chris's comprehensive understanding of fixed and removable implant supported prosthetics and the BPS denture system has become an invaluable asset to the practice and he frequently lectures to both dentists and technicians on these subjects.

Most importantly, he really puts patients at ease and listens carefully to what they want so he can deliver the very best for them.

Chris lives in Harrogate and his true passion is fishing for salmon and sea trout. When not fishing, he loves spending time with his two daughters Lauren and Sophie.
